

A man and a woman are standing in a warehouse, looking at a tablet held by the woman. The man is holding a clipboard and a pen. They are surrounded by stacks of wooden pallets and industrial equipment. The background shows a large industrial facility with various machines and structures.

Savings hidden in plain sight

Free energy assessment for your business

Find ways to save money with a free APS energy checkup.

Even small efforts to stop energy waste can lead to savings. Schedule a free walkthrough of your business with our engineers to identify areas to save, for example:

- Shutting off lights in empty spaces
- Adjusting building temperature
- Using power management settings on computers and office equipment

Every facility is different. That's why we offer a free walkthrough of your facility with an APS engineer. Site reviews, historic energy usage and billing data will be reviewed to determine building energy performance and provide a statistically accurate assessment. And we'll help you identify strategies to use energy more efficiently and meet your financial goals.

Schedule your free energy assessment at aps.com/s4b.
