Are you making the best use of energy in your business?

There's opportunities for savings around your facility and with our suite of tools for businesses, we can help you ask the right questions and find solutions. Are lights always turned off in empty rooms? Has your HVAC system been inspected? Are power management settings enabled on computers and office equipment? The answers to these questions will likely reveal many opportunities to save energy and money. APS Solutions for Business is here to help. Learn more about our free energy assessments, rebates and more at aps.com/s4b.

APS among most trustworthy

APS was named to Newsweek's 2024 list of Most Trustworthy Companies in America. We are grateful for the privilege to serve you and the opportunity to earn your trust. As our state continues to experience unprecedented growth, we're ready to invest in Arizona's future with a focus on reliability and keeping bills as low as possible for our customers. As a third-generation Arizonan, I have a deep sense of pride in our state and am humbled to take the reins as CEO. We take seriously our responsibility to power your lives and thank you for your trust in us.

CEO, Arizona Public Service

Get a bill credit when you join Cool Rewards

When you join Cool Rewards Business, you'll earn rewards for helping to conserve energy during times that demand for energy is highest from June 1 to September 30, including up to $100 in bill credits the first year. Join today at aps.com/coolrewardsbiz. If your business doesn't already own a smart thermostat, get a $60 rebate through APS Solutions for Business when you purchase and install a new, qualifying device.

You can also get more predictable business bills by signing up for Budget Billing to even out seasonal highs and lows and pay about the same every month. Enroll at aps.com/bizbudgetbilling.

Community Corner: Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation

In partnership with Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation, APS offers grants to help firefighters, law enforcement, EMS, public safety organizations, non-profits and schools within our service territory purchase lifesaving equipment. Learn about eligibility and how to apply at firehousesubsfoundation.org.*

Be prepared

Summer can bring stormy weather. If there's an outage we'll work to quickly and safely restore power while keeping you informed. Download the free APS mobile app or visit aps.com/outagecenter to get safety tips and view our interactive outage map. Keep these tips in mind:

Customers with a current cell phone number or email on their aps.com accounts are automatically enrolled in outage alerts. Visit aps.com/login to update your contact information or create an online account if you do not have one.

Keep flashlights, extra batteries and a portable charger handy in case of an outage.

Familiarize yourself and colleagues with procedures in case of an emergency.

Business Energy Analyzer

Discover ways to save energy on operating costs quickly and conveniently with our Business Energy Analyzer tool. And one of the best perks? It's free. This easy-to-use tool can help you identify how your business uses energy, and you'll receive custom strategies that can make a difference in your bottom line. To access the tool, log in to your APS account by visiting aps.com/login. Once you're on your Dashboard, go to the "Usage" section and click on "Go to Business Energy Analyzer for Usage Details" to get started.

Wildfire safety

We work year-round to help prevent and prepare for wildfires to protect communities. This includes maintaining more than 38,000 miles of power lines, managing vegetation and creating defensible space around equipment poles. Learn more by visiting aps.com/wildfires.
